

Code: HDMI/AV

CONVERTER HDMI/AV

Converts the HDMI signal to Composite Video (CVBS) signal + 2 Audio (Stereo) channels.

Attention! The device above 1080p resolution requires additional power supply.

|                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Inputs:                | 1 pcs HDMI                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Outputs:               | Composite Video (CVBS) - 1 pcs CINCHAudio - 2 pcs Cinch (L/R)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Supported resolutions: | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• HDMI :3840 x 2160 4K @ 30 Hz ,2560 x 1440 @ 30 Hz ,1920 x 1080 @ 50/60 Hz ,1600 x 1200 @ 60 Hz ,1280 x 1024 @ 60 Hz ,1360 x 768 @ 50/60 Hz ,1024 x 768 @ 60 Hz ,1280 x 720 @ 50/60 Hz</li> <li>• Composite Video (CVBS) :PAL / NTSC</li> </ul> |
| HDCP:                  | —                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Power supply:          | 5 V DC from USB port (optional)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Weight:                | 0.04 kg                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Dimensions:            | 68 x 56 x 20 mm                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Guarantee:             | 2 years                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |