

Code: FR-1

FAN SPEED CONTROLLER FR-1

The FR-1 is fan cooler speed controller based on temperature, which allows to increase the lifetime of fan cooler and reduce the noise level.

The device is extra protected against reverse polarity connection of the power voltage.

|                                      |                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Power supply:                        | 12 V DC                                                                                                                                        |
| FAN output max. current consumption: | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Thermistor placed on the board : 150 mA</li> <li>• Thermistor placed on the cable : 750 mA</li> </ul> |
| FAN output voltages:                 | 25 °C - 6 V40 °C - 11 V                                                                                                                    |
| Dimensions:                          | 31 x 25 x 18 mm                                                                                                                                |
| Weight:                              | 0.08 kg                                                                                                                                        |
| Manufacturer / Brand:                | DELTA                                                                                                                                          |
| Guarantee:                           | 3 years                                                                                                                                 |